DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 17-28 are pending. Claims 24-28 are newly added.

2. Applicant's amendments to the claims, entered 10/24/2007, necessitate the instant Requirement for Restriction/Election. The previous Requirement for Restriction/Election, mailed 9/24/2007, is withdrawn. Therefore, applicant's Response and elections, entered 10/24/2007, are rendered moot.

Nucleotide/Amino Acid Sequence Rules

3. This application contains sequence disclosures that are encompassed by the definitions for nucleotide and/or amino acid sequences set forth in 37 CFR 1.821(a)(1) and (a)(2). However, this application fails to comply with the requirements of 37 CFR 1.821 through 1.825 for the reason(s) set forth on the attached Notice To Comply With Requirements For Patent Applications Containing Nucleotide Sequence And/Or Amino Acid Sequence Disclosures.

PALM records, dated 9/21/2007, indicate that the "CRF DOES NOT MATCH APPLICATION SPECIFICATION – APPLICANT MUST CORRECT". A copy of the SCORE CRF Problem Report is provided from the image file wrapper. It appears that a proper "Sequence Listing" in computer readable form has not been submitted as required by 37 C.F.R. 1.821(e). Applicant is required to comply with the corrections for the sequence listing as per above as part of a complete response to this official action.

Election/Restrictions

4. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

I. Claims 17-25, drawn to a viral effector library comprising nucleic acid sequences of mammalian origin, classified in class 506, subclass 17

II. Claims 26-28, drawn to a method of making a packaged viral effector library comprising sequences synthesized on a surface of a microarray, classified in class 506, subclass 30.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions of Group II and Group I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make another and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the method of Group II can make a viral effector library comprising sequences that are not of mammalian origin. Furthermore, as the invention of Group I is drawn to a viral effector library and corresponds to but does not comprise a microarray, the library may be made by a process that does not involve synthesis of nucleic acid sequences on a microarray, as in the method of Group II.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions require a different field of search (see MPEP § 808.02), restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Election of Species

5. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species: set comprising at least (a) 1000 effector sequences; (b) 10,000 effector sequences; or (c) 35,000 effector sequences. The species are independent or distinct because the different number of genes sequences upon a solid support of the claimed range can require different synthesis methods so that they represent materially different design, modes of operation and function.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 17, 26, 27 are generic.

6. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species: An effector nucleic acids code for cDNAs, siRNAs, peptides or protein domains. The species are independent or distinct because the different effector nucleic acids code for different molecular molecules that have materially different design, modes of operation function and effect.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 17, 23, 26, 27 are generic.

7. Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02 (a).

8. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103 (a) of the other invention.

9. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Mark Shibuya, whose telephone number is (571) 272-0806. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F, 8:30AM-5:00PM.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Dr. James Douglas Schultz can be reached on (571) 272-0763. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
